MICRODERMABRASION TECHNOLOGY

"Regenerate, Replenish, and Renew"

What is Microdermabrasion: A mechanical exfoliation that gently uses high pressure flow of ultra fine crystals designed to remove the outer layers of the epidermis, while stimulating the inner most layers of the skin.

Microdermabrasion is the #1 equipment of choice for licensed professionals; giving licensed professionals the ability to retexture the surface while enhancing the lower layers of the epidermis. Microdermabrasion is an excellent vehicle for your next step! Whether your next step is skin care products and/or additional equipment; this will give you an uniform foundation for adding another level of change for your clients long term results.

Microdermabrasion has been around in the US market since 1996; it was first introduced as part of the medical community and then transitioned to the esthetic community where it has enjoyed great success. While there are different variations of dermabrasion on the market, the crystals are still the most popular for getting the best results.

We have learned over the years more is not better when using microdermabrasion; it is only an exfoliate and needs be used as an adjunct with other skin equipment along with general skin treatments. Most women want the smoothness, clarity, and retexturing effect microdermabrasion gives their skin; however without the harsh feel, redness, and irritation.

Even though the concept is the same from years past microdermabrasion has become more versatile with crystal flow along with vacuum flow to give an exfoliation without sensitivity. This wonderful device will give all skins a renewing, reviving, and refreshing look, feel, and comfort with every treatment.
